

1. Presidents Cup 2019 Basic Info

Presidents Cup is a prestigious team event between the United States and Europe. The two teams are pit against each other to resolve which is the best disc golf continent. The Presidents Cup 2019 is held on July 17th 2019.

2. Presidents Cup 2019 Qualification

The majority of the spots on each team goes to the top players of each continent based on their performance in 2018. Each team consists of 11 members; one captain, six playing men, two playing women, and two reserve players - one male and one female.

There are no age restrictions for these players. Players must live and have a passport of one of the countries in the continent they represent - North America or Europe.

2.1. Team Members And Selection Methods

Each team has 11 members: one captain (non-playing), two women players, six men players, and two reserve players (one woman and one man).

- One captain, selected by vote.
- Two women, based on 2018 year-end PDGA World rankings.
- Four men, based on 2018 year-end PDGA World rankings.
- One man, based on fan vote.
- One man, selected by the team captain.
- One woman as a reserve player, based on 2018 year-end PDGA World rankings.*
- One man as a reserve player, based on 2018 year-end PDGA World rankings.*

Additional qualification criteria applies to the reserve players. See 2.1.5. below.*

2.1.1. Captain

The Presidents Cup tournament organization will choose captain candidates for each team. The candidates will be presented on the tournament website and facebook, and the disc golf community gets to vote for their favorite captain on facebook. The candidate with most votes becomes the captain for his continent's team.

Captains are required to attend the Presidents Cup at Nokia on July 17th 2019.

2.1.2. Year-End Ranking Spots

Four (4) men and two (2) women qualify for each team based on the 2018 year-end PDGA World rankings.

2.1.3. Fans' Choice Player

The Presidents Cup tournament organization will choose player candidates for each team. The candidates will be presented on the tournament website and facebook, and the disc golf community gets to vote their favorite players on facebook. The player with most votes will get a spot on his continent's team.

2.1.4. Captain's Choice Player

Each captain gets to choose one male player to their team. This choice is entirely up to the captain.

2.1.5. Reserve Player

Reserve players will receive spot on each team based on the 2018 year-end PDGA World rankings with the exception that the reserve player must also be a European Open participant.

The reserve players are required to be on location on the event day, ready to substitute another player on the team in case of an injury. A player can not be replaced during a Presidents Cup round.

2.2. Confirming Participation

Each player who qualifies for the Presidents Cup must confirm their participation to the Presidents Cup. Players are informed about the qualification personally by email.

If a player declines to participate or fails to confirm their participation they may lose their eligibility to compete in the Presidents Cup and they are replaced by a reserve player.

2.3. Replacing players

A reserve player replaces a player who is unable to participate in the Presidents Cup. A new reserve player will be selected based on the qualification criteria specified above.
